

classics.arizona.edu

THE UNIVERSITY OF ARIZONA
COLLEGE OF HUMANITIES

Religious Studies
& Classics

JOIN US FOR A DAY-LONG READING OF

THE ILIAD

November 12, 2024 from 8:30AM – 5:30PM, at the Highland Bowl

It's a Homer-marathon, a Homer-a-thon, a Homerathon!

The epic poems attributed to Homer are over 2,700 years old! They are the earliest pieces of literature in Europe and are responsible for inspiring countless other epics, plays, poems, paintings, statues, and novels, thanks to their timeless themes of anger, cleverness, honor, what it means to be civilized, the meaning of life, the hero's journey, and above all the nature of our shared humanity. Join us Highland Bowl, located near Highland Dorms, as we read aloud from start to finish the entirety of Homer's epic poem: The Iliad. All students and U of A community members welcome!